Hi Nina,

I hope this will suit your needs.

Mary

After having an amalgam filling removed at my previous dentist's office (No mercury containment procedures were used.), I began experiencing numbness in my hands, tingling on the right side of my face, an increase in forgetfulness, and fatigue, all typical symptoms of mercury exposures. This incident led me to the decision to have my remaining amalgam fillings removed. Research on dentists that do safe mercury amalgam removal and replacement led me to Dr. Robbin's office. I have since had all of my old mercury fillings safely replaced. My mental clarity is better than it has been in years and my overall physical well-being has improved.
